

NSW Teachers Federation Archives

held at

Noel Butlin Archives Centre Canberra

A substantial part of NSW Teachers Federation historical files are held at the Noel Butlin Archives Centre (NBAC), at the Australian National University in Canberra.

The files include minute books, constitution and rule books, reports, circulars, general files and correspondence, financial and arbitration records, subject files, position papers, membership records, press cuttings, photographs. 125 metres of files are held.

A listing of the Federation's archival files held at the NBAC may be obtained directly from NBAC <http://archives.anu.edu.au/collections/noel-butlin-archives-centre>

Files older than 30 years are freely accessible to bona fide researchers and researchers should apply directly to the NBAC for access.

The Federation has restricted access to files that are less than 30 years old and prior authorisation of the Federation is required before access is granted by the NBAC. Researchers should complete this application form.

If access to restricted historical files is authorised by the Federation, researchers should contact the NBAC directly to arrange access.

Researchers will be required to sign the NBAC Access Agreement before access is granted. A copy of this agreement is available from the NBAC website <http://archives.anu.edu.au/using-archives/copying-records>
